

Relief for Hurricane Sandy Victims

Kids Sending Smiles raised over $1500 for local food pantries in the hardest hit areas of New Jersey and New York. On November 17, with the generous support of the Landsdowne Community in Alexandria, VA, Kids Sending Smiles raked leaves for donations, held a bake sale and set up a station where children drew pictures and wrote letters to hurricane victims. These pictures were displayed at the community soup kitchens that provide meals to those in need. All donations received were provided to Ocean County Hunger Relief in Toms River, NJ, the Food Bank of South Jersey in Pennsauken, NJ and Project Hospitality in Staten Island, NY. Read more about Kids Sending Smiles Hurricane Sandy relief efforts in the Washington Post.

